How to Speak In Public There was once a young preacher who boasted that he could make a sermon out of anything anyone would say, and urged the members to send up their slips with suggestions. A tease among those present sent up a blank slip of paper. The preacher looked at it, turned it over and said, "Here is nothing and there is nothing." He paused for a moment, considering what text he could get out of this. Then his face brightened and he was off. "Out of nothing, God created the world," he said.

Unfortunately we are not always so successful when we have to produce an idea out of nothing. It is the people with ideas who win most of the desirable places in the world. The person who can create something new and different is wanted and rarely by the police! He is in demand for his ability to develop ideas. Those who achieve conspicuous success in business and advertising, in radio, drama, literature, journalism, in politics, society, and indeed all the professions and walks of life can attribute the large portion of their success to their capacity for getting and using their ideas. Many large corporations maintain research departments which do nothing but look for and create new ideas. The only permanent thing in the world is change that's why there is steady demand for ideas. How To Get Ideas will open your eyes to the various ways to conceive ideas and how to greatly benefit from them.

STAR-SPANGLED BANNER F. S. Key 532 Book Excerpts: A major requirement in getting an idea is to believe that it is possible. In other words, we said something above about faith. Before you can do anything, you have to believe it can be done. This more than anything, sets the mind in motion to find the way. Your mind always takes its cue from your beliefs. If you believe it cannot be done, your mind will produce the reasons why it cannot. If you believe it can, your mind will be equally proficient in showing how it can. That is a necessary step in releasing creative power. Of course to get an idea you must be receptive. A dog on Fifth Avenue, New York, may be surrounded by all the idea material which the creative thinker sees. Receptiveness is what you as a human being can make of it. You cannot harbor in your mind such negative attitudes as fear, worry, resentment, jealousy, anger, anxiety and the like, and at the same time expect to receive any inspiration from the finer portions of your being. The creativeness of a person is of the same substance as universal creativeness. You must ask this creativeness within for what you want, visualizing it as clearly as possible in picture form. Then you must still your mind in an attitude of faith, expectation and confidence that you will get your reply. You can't pour grain into a sack unless the sack is open to receive, and your subconscious cannot pour ideas into your mind unless your mind is receptive.
