Each professionally written message has been tested, adjusted, tested again, adjusted some more and tested until it sold whatever was being offered. These messages have successfully sold products, services, subscriptions and business opportunities. All 52 messages use a "give and you shall receive" technique. Each message gives your prospect valuable marketing or business information in a mini-newsletter format. Your personal recommendations within the newsletter offer your prospect your product, service, subscription, business opportunity, or whatever you have to promote. Using this soft sell approach to marketing your stuff, builds a long term relationship with your prospects. When your prospects trust you, they'll buy from you. This one technique alone has increased our sales by 392. "Your marketing runs on autopilot as your autoresponder messages create a funnel of prospects who buy what you tell them to." "Awesome package. I've just started reading it and have looked over everything you've put into this package and I have to say, this program is a must read for anyone who wants to get maximum results from their autoresponders." "It's the best autoresponder package bar none." John Colanzi Internet-profits4u Well done Terry, three clear, concise and well integrated modules making it a great package!
