Dear Internet Entrepreneur, It doesnt matter whether youve been a Twitter fan for a while, or youve barely got started: If youre not actively using this rapidly-growing social network as a powerful marketing tool, you may be missing a very important boat. And if you are already marketing with Twitter but doing even one or two little things wrong your strategy can actually harm your sales and subscribers! There are many reasons why people are flocking (no pun intended) to Twitter. And why it had a growth rate of 700 percent in a 12 month period with 44.5 million unique visitors worldwide reported in June, 2009. (Just think if even 1 percent of those visitors found and followed you on Twitter, that would be 19,360 followers!) And proper marketing can increase the chances of this happening by miles! The Art Of Tweeting And Twitter Popularity: Its Not Just About The Apps There are 2 very important components to marketing with Twitter, and Ill be totally up front about it no secret here!  You need to find and master the right Twitter aids and applications And  You need to know everything about the specific peculiarities of Twitter presentation and communication Some facets of Twitter marketing, youll easily understand, since you already use them expertly in your marketing and social networking efforts. But thats just the tip of the iceberg, when it comes to effective strategies you can use for promoting your presence on Twitter Its Not Enough To Be Known And Followed: The Most Successful

Twitter Marketers Write Tweets That Are Eagerly Looked For - And Thoroughly Enjoyed! Social networking is an art but Twitter is yet again in a class of its own. You see, its readers dynamically decide what they enjoy, and their preferences and actions have taken Twitter in directions never originally dreamed about. (This is different from platforms like Facebook, where you are entirely controlled by its apps and set up conventions.) The very simplicity of Twitters format allows for a huge range of freedom but dont let that simplicity fool you: There are hidden and powerful conventions created by the people themselves you simply cannot afford to flout. Put it this way: If Twitter was a piece of art, it wouldnt be a painting, hanging in a gallery for people to look at. It would consist of pure performance art where the interaction is a key component of its form and substance. Twitter is probably the most highly interactive, real-time social medium on the internet today. And its vital to engage the Twitosphere armed with precision skills to cut out the clutter. You really need to uncover  The single biggest real life Twitter lesson you can adopt as your marketing communication model. I absolutely guarantee you wont see even a hint of this anywhere else on the net! (Hint; its a secret real-life social-group Test taught to me by an unassuming department store janitor that improved my Twitter follower-attraction and retention rate by an almost-instant 50.)  4 differences you absolutely must be aware of, if you want to create bonding and a sense of belonging/community among people with only a single thing in common (besides you)  5 things you absolutely must not do, if you want to have all your tweets read - every time  The single most compelling and avoidable reason why your personal comments may not engage people  The single most compelling secret to making sure your personal comments DO engage!  The one thing you must always do your best to trigger, when tweeting - no matter what type of tweet you create  4 hidden Twitter advantages that fooled all the industry experts and made all their predictions veer off course by miles, in less than a year! Who Cares If You Ate A Boiled Egg For Breakfast? Yet Ill be honest everywhere I still read blog posts from people blithely refusing to do just that! Knowing the power of Twitter, the saddest words I read run along the lines of: Why should I go to the bother adding another social networking platform its a waste of time. And: Who cares if you ate a boiled egg for breakfast? Yet the truth is, many of the people who came out with statements like this barely a year ago are Twitters biggest disciples and users today! (And everywhere, youll read people saying: I wish Id jumped on Twitters bandwagon when it started rolling I would have been so much further ahead right now.) Twitter Is So Easy To Use Why Wouldnt You Add It To Your Gameplan? So dont be one of those marketers wholl end up kicking themselves, when they miss:  Hundreds of brand new, never before reached pre-qualified followers who actively seek out links and subscribe to lists  Unique joint venture opportunities with the most powerfully qualified potential partners  The chance to daily put their face and personality before receptive industry experts  The fastest and fastest-growing way to update everyone who uses the world wide web (In fact, you can even instantly update your Facebook on Twitter bypassing the tedious Facebook login process and annoying apps bombarding you to join them altogether! And there are multiple Twitter clients you can use, to keep up with your followers (and those you are following Computers and mobile phones are really only just two.)
