Women are often far more prone than men to assault and other crimes including car napping, kidnapping, robbery, and even rape! Unless you actually anticipate an attack and the intentions of your attacker, there's no possible way of being fully prepared for the actions of the attacker but there is always a way to give yourself a better chance to defend yourself. Most assaults occur in a split second and the most common and often presumed correct action is to run or scream for help. But there may be instances where running or yelling won't save you, forcing you to rely only on yourself to save your dignity and quite possibly your life! This is why it's especially important for women to learn how to defend themselves in times of need using self-defense techniques and weapons. It's never too late to be prepared for the harsh realities of life, especially in a world where danger lurks freely and innocent people are the victims. Many people always think "It can never happen to me" but they could not be more mistaken. This is why it's so important for people, especially women, to be alert and ready for danger at all times.
