The day spa industry is booming and you can find great success in this field. There is vast opportunity in this industry and it promises an outstanding future. There are many considerations to make before opening your day spa beginning with the benefits. The economy has its ups and downs and it may seem unlikely that the day spa industry would hold up in the midst of economic dismay. However, this service industry continues to flourish during hard times. It does exceedingly well when the economy is booming. There is good reason for the success of this realm of the service sector. A trip to a day spa is relatively inexpensive compared to high-ticket items like an SUV or the latest technological gadgets. Customers enjoy a relaxing experience that leaves them feeling and looking terrific. Tags: spa
