With all other header packages you are (SOL) trying to get a matching ecover for your header is impossible... until now! I fill your pain, I was there at one time also I bought some headers thinking cool I edited them and then when I was ready to make my ecover I could not do so. I was (SOL), so I want you to have an EZ solution to create the ecover that matches your header. You need to build your cover, so I'm including EZ edit flat cover templates in the bonus section below. No other header package has this and it is very necessary in creating a matching ecover. What is a flat image? How do I build the ecover? I get these questions all the time. The fast and easy way to build the ecover is with some kind of software. The best you can get is an action script used with photo shop just as I used for the cover on this page. What is a flat image and what is it used for? All ecovers start out as the flat image like below. You then add your text to it and photos/images. You import that flat image into your ecover software then the software turns it into a 3D cover. I turned the flat image into a software box above. Don't buy any header package unless it has a matching flat image so you can create your ecover. If you do you will be SOL trying to match the ecover with your header. Just edit the flat image file import it into your eCover software and out pops a matching cover for your use. **Ecover software Sold Separate. Simple to add your own words, backspace the pre wrote words and replace with your own words. Import the flat image into your ecover software and out pops the ecover. It is that simple now that you have a flat image to match your header.
