CLASSICAL: Vocal Music, CLASSICAL: Orchestral Details: June 16th is Bloomsday the day Leopold Bloom journeys through Dublin in Joyces novel Ulysses. The book is bursting with musical references and the characters almost sing their way through the novel. Their minds are filled with the musical culture of the early 20th century - popular drinking songs, opera arias, and ballads imbue the pages; there are over 40 references to songs in the Sirens chapter alone. RT lyric fm celebrates this very important anniversary with JOYCESONGS JAMES JOYCES MUSICAL DUBLIN containing music referred to in Ulysses, several of which have never been recorded before. The CD features emerging Irish artists Owen Gilhooly, Elizabeth Woods, Emmanuel Lawler, Daire Halpin, and Franck Dunne recorded variously with pianist Pdhraic Cuinneagin, and the RTE Concert Orchestra conducted by Robert Houlihan.
