If youre serious about Internet marketing, you know that the first step to online success is building your own list. You may have tried other autoresponder services to create an opt-in box and build your list. However, those other services have limits on the kind of box you can create, and you could end up with a box just like hundreds of other people are displaying on their websites. Of course you can build your own opt-in form, or edit the raw HTML to customize the form, but you need programming skills to do that successfully. What if you had a way to make a totally customized op- in box? Do think your conversion rates would increase? You bet! Fancy Opt-in Box Creator is the tool you been looking for. Its very easy to use and allows you to create custom headers and footers, choose all the colors, and set the widths and border styles. All you do is key in the information you want, and the software does the rest. It couldnt easier. Set yourself apart from all the other online marketers using standard opt-in forms. When your subscribers ask how much time you spent creating your beautiful opt-in box, you can just smile and tell them its a secret.
