Inside Keylogger monitors and records all activities performed on a computer and sends reports to a specified email. Inside Keylogger records keystrokes, chat conversations, printing, application used, internet activity, modified files/folders and captures screenshots. From all these records you can choose the ones you want to be sent on e-mail. All these in complete stealth mode. What does Inside Keylogger do? Spousal monitoring Need to know who is your wifes friend and why she spends so much time chatting? Is your husband spending too much time at the computer chatting and browsing interesting sites? Inside Keylogger gives you complete reports on what happens on the computer form chat conversations, to the list of visited websites. Monitor childrens activity - Inside Keylogger helps parents get information on what their children are doing on the computer, by monitoring chat conversations, reporting what websites are visiting, see what documents are printing Business - with employees spending more and more time surfing the net or browsing or downloading stuff, the productivity lowers and lowers. Inside Keylogger is the perfect solution for putting an end to wasting time at the employers expense. Application / Program Recording
